

A Feast of Film and Food

unearthed® Food in Film opens for entries

In less than 9 months, you could be the winner of unearthed® Food in Film, a category of Pink Lady® Food Photographer of the Year 2016, being applauded by an audience of hundreds at a champagne reception at the Mall Galleries, London - and receiving a cheque for £1000.

All you need to do is submit your short, documentary or non-documentary via the Awards website www.pinkladyfoodphotographeroftheyear.com Open to all, professional and amateur from across the world, unearthed® Food in Film seeks films no longer than two minutes which can show any aspect of food, from production and harvest to preparation and eating.

The category will again be judged by a trio of remarkable and experienced judges - George Motz, Founder and Director of the Food Film Festival, NYC, Nik Powell, Director of the National Film & Television School and James Winter, Producer, BBC's Saturday Kitchen.

Not only will your work be seen by these exceptional people, if your film makes it through to the Finals, it will also be seen by the public at the world-renowned Mall Galleries over the period of the five-day, free-to-enter exhibition.

The overall winner this year was Abbie Stewart (UK) for her brilliant film short, The Cider Shed. Lisa Nieschlag (Germany) won the Non-documentary section for her film, Cranberry and Chocolate Scones.

As a result, some of the winning films will be shown in New York at the Food Film Festival in October.

unearthed® Food in Film is sponsored by unearthed®, the food brand for people who love to discover, known for bringing great regional specialities from across Europe to the shelves at accessible prices.

www.discoverunearthed.com

Pink Lady® Food Photographer of the Year was launched in 2011 and has already established itself as the pre-eminent global celebration of the art of food imagery. The awards close to entry on 7 February 2016.

For further information, please contact: Sue Richmond, The Food Awards Company, Mob: 07708 690707, Email: sue@thefoodawardscompany.co.uk